

Curriculum Vitae

Eirini Pagkalidou was born in Serres, Greece in 1992. She graduated from the Department of Statistics, Athens University of Economics and Business in 2014 and received her MSc degree in Methodology of Biomedical research, Clinical Biostatistics and Bioinformatics from the Department of Medicine, University of Thessaly in 2015. In addition, she obtained a MSc in Comparative Effectiveness Research from Paris Descartes University in France in 2018. Currently she is Ph.D. candidate in Medical Statistics-Epidemiology in the Department of Medicine, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, under the supervision of associate Professor Anna-Bettina Haidich having a scholarship from the Hellenic Foundation for Research and Innovation.

Her research interests include statistical methodology of medical data with R computer language and other statistical programs.

Contact details

pagalidou@auth.gr